Questions 1 to 4 are based on the conversation you have just heard.

p-1-1 原文

W: Mr. David Jackson, a staff writer at the New Yorker, is known for his non-fiction books of adventure. Today, we go on a different kind of adventure: Jackson's life of parenting his offspring. David, as a parent of an 11- and a 14-year-old, what is the most interesting issue you are dealing with right now?

W: 大卫·杰克逊先生是《纽约客》的一名专职撰稿人，以创作冒险类非虚构作品而闻名。今天，我们要进行一次不同类型的冒险：杰克逊养育子女的生活。大卫，作为一个有一名11岁和一名14岁孩子的家长，你目前正在面对的最有趣的问题是什么？

Questions 9 to 11 are based on the passage you have just heard.

p-9-1 原文

Researchers have identified a potent new antibiotic compound using artificial intelligence. The antibiotic can kill very dangerous bacteria. According to a study published in the journal Cell, the compound successfully removed deadly strains of bacteria in mice which are resistant to all known antibiotics.

研究人员利用人工智能发现了一种强效的新型抗生素化合物。这种抗生素能够杀死极其危险的细菌。根据发表在《细胞》杂志上的一项研究，该化合物成功清除了小鼠体内对所有已知抗生素都具有耐药性的致命细菌菌株。

p-9-2 原文

The researchers say this is the first time that artificial intelligence has been used to find a powerful new antibiotic molecule. Why does this matter? The answer is antibiotic resistance. This happens when bacteria develop the ability to survive the medications designed to kill them. Antibiotic resistance is a serious threat to health and the problem is growing. This makes finding new antibiotics very important. However, in recent decades, very few have been developed, and those that have tend to be very similar to drugs already available. The searches also tend to only focus on a narrow spectrum of chemical compounds, but this is where artificial intelligence comes in. Why? To find new drugs, scientists screen molecules to predict how effective they might be. Typically, such screening is done by humans in the lab, which is both costly and slow. Artificial intelligence is different. It's fast, and it can process a high volume. It can screen hundreds of millions of compounds to identify a few interesting candidates that require experimental testing. Artificial intelligence is also able to predict if compounds are likely to be toxic. Some experts assert that this work signifies a paradigm shift in antibiotic discovery. It could change drug discovery more generally.

研究人员表示，这是人工智能首次被用于寻找一种强效的新型抗生素分子。这为什么很重要？答案是抗生素耐药性。当细菌产生在为杀死它们而设计的药物作用下存活的能力时，就会出现这种情况。抗生素耐药性对健康构成严重威胁，而且这一问题正在加剧。因此，寻找新的抗生素至关重要。然而，近几十年来，开发出的新抗生素寥寥无几，而

且那些已经开发出的通常与现有药物非常相似。这些搜索也往往只关注范围狭窄的化合物，但这正是人工智能发挥作用的地方。为什么？为了寻找新药，科学家会筛选分子，预测它们可能具有多大疗效。通常，这种筛选由实验室中的人类完成，既成本高昂又耗时缓慢。人工智能则不同。它速度快，而且能够处理海量数据。它可以筛选数亿种化合物，找出少数值得关注、需要进行实验测试的候选物。人工智能还能够预测化合物是否可能具有毒性。一些专家认为，这项工作标志着抗生素发现领域的范式转变。它也可能从总体上改变药物研发。

Questions 12 to 15 are based on the passage you have just heard.

p-12-1 原文

A recent study overturned what we think we know about lying. Most of us have a theory about how to tell if someone is telling a lie. We may develop that theory from observations of those people we know well and see regularly, but we tend to generalize what we gather from that unscientific daily research and make it a universal theory.

一项最新研究推翻了我们对说谎的固有认识。我们大多数人都有一套判断某人是否在说谎的理论。这套理论可能源于我们对熟悉且经常见面的人的观察，但我们往往会把从这种不科学的日常观察中得出的结论加以概括，并将其视为普遍适用的理论。

p-12-2 原文

So we might imagine that liars have evasive eyes, or the opposite-they simply stare at you. Or perhaps it is more generally nervous behavior we associate with lies. Whatever the particular theory, it's usually based on close observation of people we know. And we get lots of practice. On average, we're lied to some 200 times per day. These are mostly harmless lies, but lies nonetheless.

因此，我们可能会认为说谎者目光闪躲，或者恰恰相反，他们只是盯着你看。又或者，我们通常会把某种更普遍的紧张行为与谎言联系起来。无论具体是哪一种理论，它通常都建立在对我们熟悉的人的细致观察之上。而且，我们有大量的实践机会。平均而言，我们每天大约会被欺骗200次。这些大多是无害的谎言，但归根结底仍然是谎言。

p-12-3 原文

But there's a problem with our theories, even though they're based on all these observations. The average person-you and me-tested rigorously on how well we detect lies fails to do better than chance. That's well established over many studies and lots of attempts by researchers to work out reliable ways to detect lies. It's even relatively easy to fool lie detectors, the gold standard of lie detection, by training yourself in breathing techniques and symptom suppression.

然而，尽管我们的理论建立在所有这些观察之上，它们仍然存在一个问题。普通人，也就是你我，在接受严格测试以评估识别谎言的能力时，表现并不比凭猜测好。这一点已经被众多研究以及研究人员为找出可靠的测谎方法所进行的大量尝试充分证实。即使是测谎的金标准测谎仪，也相对容易被欺骗，只要通过训练掌握呼吸技巧并抑制相关生理反应即可。

p-12-4 原文

Is there any way to get better at detecting lies? The new research offers some surprising advice. Stop looking and listen instead. It turns out that if we're unable to see the face, but rather focus on the voice of the person in question, our accuracy rate improves considerably.

有没有办法提高识别谎言的能力？这项新研究给出了令人意外的建议：不要再看，而是改为倾听。事实证明，如果我们看不到对方的脸，而是专注于相关人士的声音，我们的准确率会显著提高。

Those are a few strategies for dealing with today's American medical establishment. What patients want is to be treated with respect and consideration. But in my experience, too few hospitals and doctors are ready to do that. In his book, A Whole New Life, novelist Reynolds Price recalls that his doctors chose a crowded hallway as the place to tell him he might have a tumor on his spinal cord. It did not occur to the two physicians that a hallway was not the most appropriate place for that particular piece of news.

这些是应对当今美国医疗机构的几种策略。患者想要的是受到尊重和体贴的对待。但依我的经验，愿意这样做的医院和医生太少了。小说家雷诺兹·普莱斯在其著作《全新的生活》中回忆说，他的医生选择了一条拥挤的走廊作为告诉他脊髓上可能长有肿瘤的地点。两位医生都没有想到，走廊并不是传达这一特殊消息最恰当的地方。

"The health insurance company Blue Cross wants me to put you out in the snow tomorrow afternoon," he tells me after I have been in the hospital for more than a week. I'm terrified because I have no idea where to go. I cannot walk or even lift my leg a few inches. The hospital social worker strikes me as an idiot. But my complaints about her only annoy my surgeon. "I have to work with these people," he tells my friend, Dr. Karen Brudney, when she mercifully intervenes on my behalf and arranges for me to be transferred to another hospital.

"If you say one negative thing, they get defensive," she tells me later. "They have this kind of institutional loyalty. Always bring an advocate, that is, any other person with you to the hospital, and write down every single question and the answer, the name of every doctor and nurse. When people know you have their names, they behave better. And," Brudney adds, "if you, as a patient, suggest that you might like to control even part of the situation or be consulted or informed, then you are considered difficult. They want you to be totally passive. The entire health care system, particularly hospitals and nursing homes, exists for reasons that have nothing to do with taking care of patients. Patients are incidental."

Questions 19 to 21 are based on the recording you have just heard.

p-19-1 原文

There are probably teams you've worked with but you never want to work with again. But there must have also been other teams that you would prize reuniting with professionally. In other words, your team had vitality. Vitality comes about when the ties people form with their fellow team members are such that they stay connected even after the team breaks up.

你可能曾与一些团队共事过，但再也不想与他们合作。然而，肯定也有一些其他团队，是你非常珍视能在职业上与之重聚的。换句话说，你的团队具有活力。当人们与团队同事建立的联系使他们即使在团队解散后仍保持联系时，团队就会产生这种活力。

p-19-2 原文

What characteristics of a team make its members more likely to stay in contact despite no longer working together? This question has been answered recently in a study published in a business journal.

团队具有什么样的特征，才能使其成员即使不再一起工作，也更有可能保持联系？最近，一项发表于商业期刊的研究回答了这个问题。

p-19-3 原文

One of the two key factors the research team discovered is sameness. Specifically, sharing the same gender or ethnic origin. The more members of a team share similar demographics, the more inclined they will be to remain associates long after the team has served its purpose. After ties are established, similarity strengthens them. As a result, they regard these individuals with greater trust and mutual understanding, which motivates them to seek further opportunities for collaboration. In effect, people tend to create stronger and longer-lasting connections with similar others. Someone who looks and sounds different from us may have the resources we need to be more successful. Yet, we find them to be significantly less credible simply because they are different. If you are a fierce advocate of workplace diversity, you'll no doubt be horrified by such a revelation.

研究团队发现的两个关键因素之一是相似性，具体来说，就是拥有相同的性别或族裔背景。一个团队成员的人口统计特征越相似，他们就越倾向于在团队完成使命很久之后仍保持同事关系。联系建立之后，相似性会进一步巩固这种联系。因此，他们会更加信任并相互理解这些人，这促使他们寻求进一步合作的机会。实际上，人们往往会与相似的人建立更牢固、更持久的联系。与我们外貌和声音不同的人，或许拥有帮助我们取得更大成功所需的资源。然而，仅仅因为他们与众不同，我们就会发现自己明显不那么信任他们。如果你是职场多元化的坚定倡导者，毫无疑问会对这样的发现感到震惊。

The second factor identified by the researchers is the quality of the relationships among the team members. The more they trust one another, share the same goals and depend on each other for the achievement of those goals, the stronger their chances of maintaining their connections, despiteno longer working as one team. Teams with quality relationships have ashared belief that it's safe to take risks with each other, and theirmembers are obliged to share the workload and help out.

研究人员确定的第二个因素是团队成员之间关系的质量。他们彼此越信任，目标越一致，并且越依赖彼此来实现这些目标，即使不再作为一个团队工作，他们维持彼此联系的可能性就越大。关系良好的团队拥有一种共同信念，即彼此合作承担风险是安全的；其成员也有义务分担工作量并互相提供帮助。

p-19-5 原文

From personal experience, I can see both the truth and the inconsistency of such studies. The truth is some of my closest friendships were formed as a result of having worked together on teams, and I actively seek opportunities to work with them again. The inconsistency, though, is that I've never worked for a team more successful and cohesive than the one of which I am a member right now. And yet, the four of us have very little in common and are completely different demographically. So I am unlikely to question the value of a diverse workforce.

根据个人经历，我既能看出这类研究的真实性，也能看出其中的不一致之处。真实之处在于，我最亲密的一些友谊源于我们曾一起在团队中工作，而我也会主动寻找再次与他们合作的机会。然而，不一致之处在于，我从未在一个比我目前所在团队更加成功、更加团结的团队中工作过。可是，我们四个人几乎没有共同之处，在人口统计特征上也完全不同。因此，我不太可能质疑多元化劳动力的价值。

Questions 22 to 25 are based on the recording you have just heard.

p-22-1 原文

An American researcher who studied 600 millionaires found how rich you can get comes down to six wealth factors. She found that six behaviors are related to net worth potential, regardless of age or income. These were thriftiness, confidence, responsibility, planning, focus and social indifference.

一位研究了6亿名百万富翁的美国研究人员发现，一个人能够变得多么富有，归根结底取决于六个财富因素。她发现，无论年龄或收入如何，六种行为都与净资产潜力有关。这些行为分别是节俭、自信、责任感、规划、专注以及不在意社会评价。

Being thrifty comes as no great surprise. Spending above your means, spending instead of saving for retirement, spending in anticipation of becoming wealthy, makes you a slave to the paycheck. "Even with an astronomical level of income," she wrote, "to properly build wealth, experts recommend saving 20% of your income and living off the remaining 80%."

节俭并不令人感到意外。入不敷出地消费、不为退休储蓄而消费、预想着自己会变得富有而消费，都会使你沦为薪水的奴隶。她写道：“即使收入达到天文数字，要想合理地积累财富，专家也建议将收入的20%存起来，靠剩下的80%生活。”

p-22-3 原文

Having confidence is another key characteristic, as it helps people to be thrifty. It takes confidence to live within your means. It also takes confidence to invest properly. Instead of making investing decisions with your emotions, financial planners advise that you should leave your investments alone and focus on a long-term investment plan. But people can't invest or manage their own money without accepting responsibility for the outcomes. Many millionaires take on personal responsibility, and most also happen to be self-made, meaning they didn't acquire their wealth through luck. Millionaires don't count on anyone else to make them rich, and they don't blame anyone else if they fall short. They focus on things they can control and align their daily habits to the goals they have set for themselves. They tend to be goal-oriented and hard workers, which enables them to plan financially and focus on seeing those plans through. 92% of the millionaires surveyed developed a long term plan for their money and 97% almost always achieved the goals they set for themselves.

拥有自信是另一个关键特征，因为这能帮助人们保持节俭。量入为出需要自信。正确地进行投资同样需要自信。财务规划师建议，不要凭情绪做出投资决定，而应放任投资自

行运作，并专注于长期投资计划。但如果不对结果承担责任，人们就无法投资或管理自己的资金。许多百万富翁都承担个人责任，而且大多数人还碰巧是白手起家，这意味着他们并非靠运气获得财富。百万富翁不会指望别人让自己变得富有，如果没有达到目标，他们也不会责怪别人。他们专注于自己能够控制的事情，并使日常习惯与自己设定的目标保持一致。他们往往以目标为导向且勤奋努力，这使他们能够进行财务规划，并专注于贯彻落实这些计划。接受调查的百万富翁中，有92%为自己的资金制定了长期计划，97%几乎总能实现自己设定的目标。

p-22-4 原文

And it is these behaviors that make it easy for them to be socially indifferent. They resist lifestyle creep, the tendency to spend more whenever one earns more. Essentially, they don't yield to pressure to buy the latest thing or to keep up with others or what they have acquired. Instead of being focused on what might make them happy today, they're focused on their long-term wealth-building plan.

正是这些行为，使他们很容易做到不在意社会评价。他们抵制生活方式膨胀，也就是一个人收入增加后便倾向于增加消费。他们基本不会屈服于购买最新产品的压力，也不会为了与他人保持一致或追赶他人已经拥有的东西而消费。他们关注的不是今天可能让自己感到快乐的事物，而是长期积累财富的计划。

Questions 9 to 11 are based on the passage you have just heard.

p-9-1 原文

A new study has found a positive correlation between how much television children watch and their parents' stress levels. Why? Because the more television kids watch, the more they're exposed to advertising. The more advertising they see, the more likely they are to insist on purchasing items when they go with their parents to the store. This could generate conflict if the parents refuse. All that, researchers say, can contribute to parents' overall stress levels.

一项新研究发现，儿童看电视的时间长短与其父母的压力水平呈正相关。为什么？因为孩子看电视越多，接触到的广告就越多。他们看到的广告越多，和父母一起去商店时，就越有可能坚持要求购买某些商品。如果父母拒绝，这可能会引发冲突。研究人员表示，所有这些因素都可能导致父母的整体压力水平上升。

p-9-2 原文

What's the solution? Perhaps the most obvious is curtailing screen time. Commercial content is there for a reason: to elicit purchasing behavior. So parents might want to shut off the TV. Researchers concede that this is easier said than done. So they suggest another option. Parents can change how they talk to their kids about purchases.

解决办法是什么？也许最明显的办法是限制屏幕使用时间。商业内容之所以存在，是有其原因的：诱导人们进行购买。因此，家长可能会想关掉电视。研究人员承认，这说起来容易做起来难。因此，他们提出了另一种选择。家长可以改变与孩子谈论购买行为的方式。

p-9-3 原文

The researchers suggest that parents seek input from their children on family purchasing decisions. They shouldn't try to control all purchases. Instead, parents might tell their children things like "I will listen to your advice on certain products or brands." This type of communication, the researchers assert, can lead to children making fewer purchasing demands. That means less parents' stress.

研究人员建议，家长在家庭购买决策中征求孩子的意见。他们不应试图控制所有购买行为。相反，家长可以对孩子说："我会听取你对某些产品或品牌的建议。"研究人员断言，这种沟通方式可以减少孩子提出购买要求的次数。这意味着父母的压力会减轻。

p-9-4 原文

However, the protective effect of this kind of communication diminishes with greater exposure to television. This is because advertising aimed at children is especially persuasive. Advertisers use an assortment of tactics, such as bright colors, happy music and celebrity endorsements to appeal to children. Plus, children don't have the cognitive ability to fully understand advertising's intent. That makes them particularly vulnerable to advertisements.

然而，随着接触电视的增多，这种沟通方式的保护作用会减弱。这是因为针对儿童的广告尤其具有说服力。广告商会运用各种策略吸引儿童，例如鲜艳的色彩、欢快的音乐和名人代言。此外，儿童还不具备充分理解广告意图的认知能力。这使他们特别容易受到广告的影响。

Questions 12 to 15 are based on the passage you have just heard.

p-12-1 原文

Everyone is supposed to cheer for good guys, and we should only punish the bad guys. But that's not what we always do. Most of the time, we do indeed reward good people. We also often punish people who harm others, or who aren't good team players. But sometimes, the good guys also get punished or criticized, specifically because they are so good.

人人都应该为好人喝彩，而我们也只应该惩罚坏人。但我们并不总是这样做。大多数时候，我们确实会奖励好人。我们也经常惩罚那些伤害他人或不善于团队合作的人。但有时，好人也会受到惩罚或批评，正是因为他们太优秀了。

p-12-2 原文

This seems baffling, because it's detrimental to group cooperation. However, the phenomenon has been discovered in multiple fields, and it has been found in every society. Why does this happen? Research suggests a simple reason. When one person looks really good, others look bad by comparison. Those others then have an incentive in stopping that person from looking good, especially if they can't or won't compete. After all, we're all judged in comparison with others.

这似乎令人费解，因为这种做法不利于群体合作。然而，这一现象已在多个领域被发现，并且存在于每一个社会中。为什么会发生这种情况？研究表明，原因很简单。当一个人表现得非常出色时，相比之下，其他人就显得很差。于是，那些人便有动机阻止这个人继续显得优秀，尤其是在他们无法或不愿与之竞争的情况下。毕竟，我们都会在与他人的比较中受到评判。

When faced with someone better, what can a normal person do? One option is to actively compete. A second option is to bring that person down; that is, to suppress their cooperation or work ethic, infer selfish motives for their actions, or imply real or imagined hypocrisy. Other tactics include attacking them on unrelated dimensions, or punishing them outright.

面对一个比自己优秀的人，一个普通人能做什么？一种选择是积极竞争。第二种选择是拉低那个人，也就是说，压制其合作意愿或工作积极性，把他们的行为推断为出于自私动机，或者暗示他们存在真实或想象中的虚伪。其他策略还包括在无关的方面攻击他们，或者干脆惩罚他们。

Why does this matter? Critics often attack the motives of people who protect the environment, donate money, or work too hard. Such good deeds

为什么这很重要？批评者经常攻击那些保护环境、捐款或工作过于努力的人的动机。那些不做这些事情的人，会把这些善举斥为天真或虚伪。这种批评最终可能会打击人们行善的积极性。因此，认清这些攻击的本质非常重要。

Questions 16 to 18 are based on the recording you have just heard.

p-16-1 原文

In America, most researchers concede that boys and girls are brought up in different ways, taught different skills and rewarded for different acts. Women, it is agreed, excel at certain tasks, men at others. There's little argument that some personality traits appear more dominant in one sex than in the other. All of this notwithstanding, gender differences are very much in the media these days. Since the rise of the women's movement, gender role behavior has come under closer scrutiny. How has this affected friendship? How do the sexes differ in their friendship relations?

在美国，大多数研究者承认，男孩和女孩以不同的方式被抚养长大，被教导不同的技能，并因不同的行为而受到奖励。人们一致认为，女性擅长某些任务，男性则擅长另一些任务。几乎没有人争辩说，某些人格特征在一个性别中比在另一个性别中表现得更为突出。尽管如此，性别差异如今在媒体上仍是一个热门话题。自妇女运动兴起以来，性别角色行为受到了更加密切的审视。这对友谊产生了怎样的影响？两性在友谊关系方面有何不同？

p-16-2 原文

Most preteen children have a best friend who is usually someone of the same sex and similar age. Both sexes share an essentially positive recollection of these childhood friendships; they do not differ in this respect. However, the type of play engaged in during these early friendships is telling of the difference to come. Boys tend to form play groups that are competitive in nature; girls' groups more frequently revolve around cooperative enterprises. Thus, at an early age, boys become concerned with trying hard and winning while girls, by contrast, play house and school,engaging in roles that require complementary support.

大多数青春期前的儿童都有一个最要好的朋友，这个朋友通常与自己同性别且年龄相仿。两性对这些童年友谊都抱有基本上积极的回忆；在这一点上，他们并无不同。然而，在这些早期友谊中所进行的游戏类型，显示出日后差异的端倪。男孩往往组成具有竞争性质的游戏群体；女孩的群体则更经常围绕合作性活动展开。因此，在很小的年纪，男孩就开始关注努力争取和获胜，而女孩则相反，她们玩过家家和学校游戏，扮演需要彼此配合支持的角色。

Speaking of their childhood, men recall being highly responsive to and aware of the gender-role opinions of other boys. Girls in preteen years appear to be less susceptible to gender-role pressure. It is not until the dating years that women report being concerned with feminine behavior. Males, for the most part, are responsive to the suggestion that their behavior is unmanly at almost any age.

男性回忆童年时说，他们对其他男孩关于性别角色的看法高度敏感，也十分在意。青春期前的女孩似乎较少受到性别角色压力的影响。直到开始约会的年龄，女性才会表示自己开始关注女性化的行为。在几乎任何年龄，男性大多都会对他人暗示其行为不够男子气概作出反应。

p-16-4 原文

These early attitudes, reinforced by social conditioning, continue to play an active part in the friendships of both sexes during adolescence. This is a period when the majority of males once again report a close alliance with same-sex friends. Now, however, with heightened intensity, considerable energy is devoted to competing for position and a definite undercurrent of competition permeates the relationship. Although in dissimilar fashion, females share equally fragile relationships at this age. For them, the bond of loyalty extends only to the line of romantic involvement. This is most apt to be the case in late adolescence, when dating and relationships with boys take sharp precedence over sisterhood. Actually, dating dilutes the intensity of same sex friendships for men also. For the majority of us, the moment we begin to date seriously, there's a competition between romanceand friendship.

Good afternoon. In today's lecture, we'll be talking about how and when to disclose a disability when applying for a job. On average, about 20% of the population has some form of disability. Most countries these days have equal opportunity and non-discrimination laws. Yet, disabled people often find it hard to decide when, how, and if at all to raise their disability problem with the potential employer. There is uncertainty about how a recruiter will perceive their disability.

As such, many candidates fear they wouldn't be considered for a position, as a result of disclosing this personal information. And research has validated this as a genuine concern for many job applicants. It's a natural reaction, but it shouldn't be a reason to stay quiet. People need to remember that they are applying for a position they have the skills and experience to excel in. Discussing a disability with the potential employer may help them make reasonable workplace adjustments in their favor.

It's most appropriate to discuss a disability when they reply to confirm an interview. This information needn't be put up front in their cover letter or resumé, because it's probably not relevant to the position itself. Candidates with disabilities should feel they have the power to make their own decisions around sharing this information free from prejudice. If they find an organization that doesn't celebrate diversity and inclusion, it could say a lot about the company's culture. Perhaps the organization isn't the right fit. It's important for them to remember that they are seeking a manager and employer that's going to be supportive and continue to give them a great employment experience.

Companies sometimes offer candidates the chance to disclose disabilities on their application form, but people shouldn't feel restricted by this method or timing. People should avoid sharing the name of their disability or condition. There is always the risk that the recruiter will research information that is inaccurate or irrelevant. If people don't think their disability will impact their ability to perform in the advertised position, then it's entirely their entitlement to choose when, and whether to share this information.

A group of American researchers compared students' comprehension of verbal material when reading in the presence of background speech, instrumental music or general noise. General noise is neutral, such as that from the sound of an air conditioner or fan. Students' scores were most depressed in the presence of background speech. Comprehension was slightly better with the presence of music than with speech. However, when they were asked to identify melodies rather than understand text, background music interfered more. When the background speech was in a language unfamiliar to participants, there was little if any hindrance of reading comprehension.

Not everyone reacts in the same way to distractions. Other studies suggest some aspects of personality may make a difference. The researchers subjected shy quiet people and confident outgoing ones to high arousal or low arousal background music, general noise or silence while asking them to remember words. Everyone performed best in the silent condition, but less sociable people were more negatively affected by each of the distractions. So when children are reading and trying to incorporate new material, parents could consider allowing some background music, particularly if it's instrumental and their child is the outgoing type.

First, the benefits for the brain. Studies have shown that short periods of stress can actually bolster cognitive functioning. Researchers discovered that placing rats in a stressful situation for just a few hours doubled the growth of new brain cells. The rats also did better on a memory test later on. Scientists think the same thing happens in humans. But how does stress improve memory? It's simple. When your brain cells multiply, your memory can improve. Viewed from a biological perspective, this makes sense, because animals that are better at remembering dangerous situations can avoid them in the future. If an animal encounters a predator and escapes, for example, it's important to remember where and when that encounter happened. Experts assert that the same principle applies to humans.

首先来看压力对大脑的益处。研究表明，短时间的压力实际上能够增强认知功能。研究人员发现，让大鼠处于有压力的环境中仅几个小时，就能使新脑细胞的增长速度提高一倍。之后，这些大鼠在记忆测试中的表现也更好。科学家认为，人类身上也会发生同样的情况。但是，压力是如何改善记忆力的呢？原因很简单。当你的脑细胞增多时，你的记忆力可能会得到改善。从生物学角度来看，这是合理的，因为更善于记住危险情境的动物能够在未来避开这些情境。例如，如果一只动物遇到捕食者并成功逃脱，那么记住这次遭遇发生的地点和时间就十分重要。专家断言，同样的原理也适用于人类。

For many managers and people who work in leadership positions, dealing with emails is a dilemma. It's likely the "unpredictable, uncontrollable and ongoing nature of day-to-day email in terms of volume, importance and urgency" contributes to their levels of anxiety and to diminished leadership skills.

That's because it's not unusual for many leaders to prioritize email management over people management. An obsession with managing their inbox prevents them from dealing with their employees. As a result, they ignore the issues that might only be mild problems at first, until unfortunately, they inevitably transform into a major problem or crisis by virtue of neglect.

When presented with a choice between the appeal of their inbox and other more important activities, many sacrifice the latter. Daily email demands have a negative impact on their goal progress. This is because leaders must divert resources from other tasks to check, filter and respond to emails.

The solution is cultivating self-control which is like a muscle-it can be strengthened or improved over time through exercise. Some suggestions include making space in your diary for the only periods during which you'll be checking emails, setting a timer for yourself so you don't become distracted by your inbox for too long, turning off email alerts so you're not interrupted by them.

The marketing professors believe that the real solution to obesity is making food look appealing and focusing on the pleasure of both looking at and eating that food. That pleasure can be used as a tool to promote healthy food choices. In fact, the research done by the team showed that associating healthy food with pleasant images, experiences and emotions led to greater interest in purchasing or eating it. "This is a better strategy," they claim, than reminding consumers that a certain food is good for them. But are they right?

Well, the researchers cited a marketing campaign designed to reverse the sales decline of carrots. The campaign didn't emphasize the carrots' healthy qualities, but embraced their beauty and the pleasure derived from eating them. For example, the ads focused on the bright, beautiful orange color and crisp texture of the carrots. The campaign led to an impressive increase in product sales of more than 10%. The researchers believe that other companies could bolster sales of healthy foods with similar ads, depicting their products as attractive and a source of pleasure.

研究人员举例介绍了一项旨在扭转胡萝卜销量下滑的市场营销活动。该活动没有强调胡萝卜的健康特性，而是展现了它们的美感以及食用它们所带来的愉悦感。例如，广告重点突出胡萝卜明亮美丽的橙色和爽脆的口感。这项活动使产品销量大幅增加了10%以上。研究人员认为，其他公司也可以通过类似的广告来促进健康食品的销售，将其产品描绘成具有吸引力且能带来愉悦的食品。

One reason for this is that consumers are becoming more aware of environment and sustainability issues. They also want to make their home a safe place, free from toxic chemicals. Throwing spare change into a fountain is a time-honored ritual: throw a penny into the water, and your wish might come true. But all that money has to go somewhere. Well, the coins collected can go to all sorts of different places-from fountain maintenance to charity or public service. In New York City, for example, coins collected from fountains in public parks often go towards the fountains' maintenance itself, though entrepreneurs who don't mind getting their hands wet often get to it first. There are over 50 beautiful decorative display fountains in New York City parks. They are cleaned by the parks' staff every few weeks. But most of the coins have already been removed by entrepreneurial New Yorkers and there is not a significant amount left to be collected.

收集到的硬币可以被用于各种不同的地方，例如喷泉维护、慈善事业或公共服务。以纽约市为例，从公共公园喷泉中收集的硬币通常会用于喷泉本身的维护，不过那些不介意把手弄湿的投机者往往会先下手。纽约市的公园里有50多座漂亮的装饰性展示喷泉。公园工作人员每隔几周会对它们进行清洁。但大多数硬币早已被纽约的投机者取走，剩下可收集的数量并不多。

Other cities, though, can pull in a much more serious haul. Take for example, Rome's famous Trevi fountain: for hundreds of years, visitors have thrown coins over their shoulder into the fountain to ensure that they will return. So many tourists toss in coins that Roman officials have the fountain cleaned every night, reportedly getting as much as $4,000 in loose change from around the world each day. Most of the money collected each night goes towards running a supermarket for the needy. And collecting that cash is serious business. Roman officials have been known to be tough on anyone caught skimming coins from the fountain. In one case in 2005, police arrested four fountain cleaners after they were spotted slipping coins into their own pockets after collecting them. Authorities finally caught one notorious thief named Thomas Morgan and banned him from the fountain after he fished out thousands of dollars in change over 34 years using a magnetic stick.

不过，其他城市的喷泉可能会带来多得多的收入。以罗马著名的特莱维喷泉为例：数百年来，游客一直将硬币从肩后抛入喷泉，以确保自己将来还会回来。如此多的游客往里投硬币，以至于罗马官员每天晚上都会安排清理喷泉，据报道，每天能从中获得多达

4,000美元的世界各地零钱。每晚收集到的大部分钱都用于运营一家为贫困者服务的超市。而收集这些现金是一项严肃的工作。众所周知，罗马官员会严厉对待任何被发现从喷泉中偷取硬币的人。2005年就发生过一起案件：警方发现四名喷泉清洁工在收集硬币后把硬币偷偷塞进自己的口袋，随后将他们逮捕。最终，当局抓住了一名臭名昭著的小偷Thomas Morgan，并禁止他进入喷泉区域；在34年间，他曾用一根磁力棒从喷泉中捞出数千美元的零钱。

For the most part, money collected from privately-owned fountains in the United States also goes to charity. The fountain in New York City's Bryant Park is owned and operated by a not-for-profit corporation, which puts the cash collected by cleaners towards the fountain's own maintenance. Tens of thousands of dollars in coins removed from wishing wells, fountains and ponds in Florida's Walt Disney World are donated each year to support foster children living in the state. Whether or not your wish comes true after tossing a coin into a fountain, you can rest assured knowing that the change is likely going to someone who needs it.

在美国，从私人拥有的喷泉中收集到的钱大多也会捐给慈善机构。纽约市布莱恩特公园的喷泉由一家非营利公司所有并运营，清洁工收集到的现金会被用于喷泉本身的维护。佛罗里达州华特迪士尼世界的许愿井、喷泉和池塘中每年取出的数万美元硬币，都会被捐出，用于帮助生活在该州的寄养儿童。无论你把硬币扔进喷泉后愿望是否实现，你都可以放心，因为这些零钱很可能会流向需要帮助的人。

Questions 9 to 11 are based on the passage you have just heard.

p-9-1 原文

Forgiveness is the release of resentment or anger. Forgiveness doesn't mean reconciliation. We don't have to return to the same relationship, nor do we have to accept the same harmful behaviors from an offender. Forgiveness is vitally important for the mental health of certain victims. It propels people forward rather than keeping them emotionally engaged in an injustice or trauma. Carrying the hurt or anger of an offense leads the body to release stress chemicals. Eliminating the perpetual flow of those chemicals may also explain why forgiveness provides physical health benefits.

宽恕是放下怨恨或愤怒。宽恕并不意味着和解。我们不必回到原来的关系中，也不必再接受冒犯者同样的有害行为。对于某些受害者而言，宽恕对心理健康至关重要。它推动人们继续前进，而不是让他们在情感上持续纠缠于某种不公或创伤之中。带着遭受冒犯后的伤痛或愤怒生活，会导致身体释放应激化学物质。消除这些化学物质的持续释放，也可能解释了宽恕为何能带来身体健康方面的益处。

There are scenarios in which forgiveness is not the best course. Sometimes the victim becomes more empowered when they give themselves permission not to forgive. Forgiveness can be challenging. This is especially true when the offending party offers an insincere apology, or maybe they haven't offered anything at all. However, it's often the healthiest path forward. It's important to cultivate forgiveness by developing compassion for the offender, reflect on whether the act was due to malicious intent, or whether it was caused by challenging circumstances in the offender's life.

在某些情况下，宽恕并不是最佳选择。有时，当受害者允许自己不去宽恕时，他们反而会获得更强的力量。宽恕可能是一件困难的事。当冒犯者给出虚假的道歉，或者根本没有道歉时，尤其如此。然而，宽恕往往是最有利于健康的前进之路。重要的是，要通过对冒犯者培养同情心来促进宽恕，并反思这一行为究竟是出于恶意，还是由冒犯者生活中的艰难处境所导致。

p-9-3 原文

What about forgiving ourselves? We sometimes need to take responsibility for mistakes, but intense guilt and shame aren't a desirable outcome in the long run. Forgiving yourself may seem like an ambiguous process. You can begin by acknowledging that you are at fault, taking responsibility for the hurt you caused, then reflecting on why the event occurred. Draw the lessons you learned and try to avoid committing a similar offense in the future.

那么，宽恕自己又如何呢？我们有时需要为自己的错误承担责任，但从长远来看，强烈的内疚和羞耻并不是理想的结果。宽恕自己似乎是一个模糊不清的过程。你可以先承认自己有错，为自己造成的伤害承担责任，然后反思这一事件发生的原因。总结你从中吸取的教训，并努力避免今后犯下类似的过错。

The Glasgow subway first opened in 1896 as a cable-hauled system. It is generally recognised as the world's third underground railway, after London and Budapest. In its long history, it has never been expanded, remaining asa single loop line with a mere 15 stations. At its peak, it served theshipyard workers on the south side of the city. In the 1960s, there was adecline in the shipbuilding industry and the popularity of privatetransport grew. As a result, the subway saw a rapid decline in ridership.

格拉斯哥地铁于1896年首次开通，当时采用缆索牵引系统。人们普遍认为，它是继伦敦和布达佩斯之后世界上第三条地下铁路。在其漫长的历史中，线路从未扩建，始终是一条仅有15个车站的单环线。它在鼎盛时期为城市南部的造船厂工人提供服务。20世纪60年代，造船业衰落，私人交通工具日益普及。因此，地铁客流量迅速下降。

It ran with little further change until 1977 when its new operators closed it for major modernisation investment. Carriages were replaced, ventilation was improved, and the main depot was also renovated and fitted with connecting tracks to replace the outdated crane transfer mechanism. The subway in its present form reopened for operation in April 1980. Since its relaunch, the subway has seen a revival in its fortunes. It serves as a viable alternative to other forms of transport and has gone a long way to alleviate traffic jams in the city centre. In 1996, the system reached an important milestone-100 years. To commemorate this special event, the colour scheme of the train carriages was updated.

此后，地铁基本没有进一步变化，直到1977年，新运营方因进行重大现代化投资而关闭了地铁。车厢被更换，通风系统得到改善，主车库也进行了翻修，并增设了连接轨道，以取代过时的起重机转运机制。现有形式的地铁于1980年4月重新投入运营。重新启用以来，地铁的境况有所好转。它成为其他交通方式的可行替代方案，并在很大程度上缓解了市中心的交通拥堵。1996年，该系统迎来了一个重要里程碑--建成100周年。为纪念这一特殊事件，列车车厢的配色方案进行了更新。

Questions 16 to 18 are based on the recording you have just heard.

p-16-1 原文

If you visit the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, chances are you will remember the roadside or campground bears above all else. Bears are the most popular animals in a number of our national parks. In these mountains, where the population of bears runs into the hundreds, opportunities to observe these large wild animals are plentiful during the summer.

如果你游览大烟山国家公园，那么最有可能让你始终记忆犹新的，莫过于路边或露营地的熊。在我们的一些国家公园里，熊是最受欢迎的动物。在这片熊的数量达到数百只的山地，夏季有许多机会观察这些大型野生动物。

p-16-2 原文

Since national parks are wildlife sanctuaries where no disturbance of the native animals is allowed, years of protection have served to break down the wild bears' fear of humans. Now, instead of depending on their own resources for a living, many bears patrol park roads and campgrounds. They give the garbage cans a frequent going over. An occasional offer of food from a park visitor, an illegal and dangerous practice, makes beggars of them. Bears are very often hungry and since they will feed on almost any kind of plant or animal, garbage is quite acceptable.

由于国家公园是野生动物保护区，不允许干扰当地动物，多年的保护已经逐渐消除了野熊对人类的恐惧。如今，许多熊不再依靠自身能力谋生，而是在公园道路和露营地巡游。它们经常翻找垃圾桶。公园游客偶尔提供食物，这种违法且危险的行为使它们变成了乞食者。熊常常处于饥饿状态，而且几乎什么植物或动物都吃，因此垃圾对它们来说完全可以接受。

p-16-3 原文

Feeding them, however, represents misguided kindness because the bears come to expect such generosity from everyone and consequently, trouble could lie ahead. Park rules prohibit the feeding of bears. Violators are arrested. Every year, doctors who have offices near the park treat a number of cases of bear bites and bear scratches. Some of the accidents have come about in strange ways.

然而，给它们喂食是一种出于好心却考虑不周的行为，因为熊会开始期待每个人都这样慷慨相待，因而可能引发麻烦。公园规定禁止给熊喂食。违反者会被逮捕。每年，在公园附近设有诊所的医生都会治疗一些被熊咬伤或抓伤的病例。有些事故的发生方式十分奇特。

One man was in the process of feeding two small cubs, when the mother bear appeared and insisted upon having some of the food. Shoving the big bear aside with one hand, the man continued feeding the cubs when suddenly he was struck a fierce blow in the face. A bear, prompted by the food that a lady kept offering to him, entered the car where the generous person was sitting. Her efforts to push the bear out of the car resulted in injuries. A man required medical attention after he applied a lighted cigarette to a bear's nose. Another man tried to boost a bear into the front seat of his car so that he might take a picture of a bear sitting beside his wife who was behind the wheel.

有一个人在给两只小熊崽喂食时，母熊出现了，并坚持要分得一些食物。那人用一只手把大熊推到一边，继续给熊崽喂食，突然被熊狠狠地打了一下脸。一头熊受到一位女士不断递给它食物的诱惑，进入了这位热心人所坐的汽车。她试图把熊推出车外，结果受了伤。一名男子把点燃的香烟放到熊的鼻子上，随后需要接受医疗救治。还有一名男子试图把一头熊抱进自己汽车的前排座位，好给熊拍照，照片中熊将坐在驾驶座后面、与他的妻子并排。

Because bears prefer roads and campgrounds, the possibility of a hiker meeting up with a bear along park trails is small, but there's always that chance, for a bear seems to know if you are carrying a lunch or a candybar. He may even insist on taking it.

由于熊更喜欢道路和露营地，徒步者在公园小径上遇到熊的可能性很小，但这种情况始终有可能发生，因为熊似乎知道你是否带着午餐或巧克力棒。它甚至可能坚持要把食物拿走。

p-19-1 原文

Why do we form opinions or attitudes about someone or something without really knowing much about them? Just hearing something good or bad about a person, a place or thing can influence our opinions positively or negatively. But letting the opinions of another person determine what our opinions will be is dangerous. Forming opinions about someone or something before really knowing them well is called prejudice. "Pre-" means before, and "judice" refers to judgment. Hence, prejudice means to judge before having adequate knowledge.

为什么我们会在并不真正了解某个人或某件事的情况下，就对其形成看法或态度？仅仅听到一些关于某个人、某个地方或某件事的好或坏的说法，就可能对我们的看法产生积极或消极的影响。但是，让他人的看法决定我们自己的看法是危险的。在真正充分了解某个人或某件事之前就对其形成看法，这叫作偏见。“Pre-”意为“之前”，“judice”指的是判断。因此，偏见就是在获得充分了解之前作出判断。

We can be prejudiced toward or against someone or something. In either case, we are only allowing ourselves to see half of the picture. Very few people or things in this world are all good or all bad. Prejudiced attitudes are usually based on myths, half-truths or incorrect information, and they are dangerous because they can keep us from learning the truth about someone or something. People form prejudices against others for many reasons-differences in their race, religion, gender, or occupation. Prejudices keep people apart. They keep us from really knowing and understanding each other.

我们可能会对某个人或某件事抱有偏见，也可能持反对态度。无论是哪种情况，我们都只是允许自己看到事情的一半。这个世界上很少有人或事物是全然美好或全然糟糕的。偏见通常建立在神话、半真半假的说法或错误信息之上，而它们之所以危险，是因为可能使我们无法了解某个人或某件事的真相。人们会因为许多原因对他人产生偏见，例如种族、宗教、性别或职业方面的差异。偏见使人彼此隔绝，也使我们无法真正了解和理解彼此。

We should feel proud of who we are and the group of people we represent. If feelings of pride begin to turn to feelings of superiority when we think that our group or our beliefs are better than those around us, however, then we begin to develop prejudiced attitudes that can be harmful. For example, the prejudiced attitudes of one group may keep another group from attending certain schools, from living in any neighborhood they want, or from getting a job or a promotion. Extreme feelings of prejudice have caused the deaths of innocent people. We are responsible for our own thoughts and opinions. When we let someone else tell us what to think about someone or something, we are giving up some control of our own lives.

Before you form an attitude or opinion, find out for yourself about the person or the thing in question. Sometimes we don't realize that we hold prejudiced attitudes toward or against someone or something. We need to carefully examine our lives and our fears, and to ask ourselves whether our attitudes come from our personal knowledge and experience or from rumors and fear of the unknown. The good news about prejudice is that we are not born with it. Prejudiced attitudes and opinions develop over time. But with education and knowledge, we can replace our prejudices with cooperation and understanding.

在形成某种态度或看法之前，要亲自了解有关的人或事。有时，我们并没有意识到自己对某个人或某件事抱有偏见。我们需要认真审视自己的生活和恐惧，并问问自己：我们的态度是源于个人的知识和经历，还是源于传闻以及对未知事物的恐惧。关于偏见，好消息是我们并非天生就有偏见。偏见性的态度和看法会随着时间逐渐形成。但是，通过教育和知识，我们可以用合作与理解取代偏见。 Questions 22 to 25 are based on the recording you have just heard.

p-22-1 原文

When I started high school, it was a shock. I had spent eight years fighting my way to be the most popular kid in the Catholic school student body. I had been a big, tough 8th grader and suddenly I was a lonely 9th grader bullied by the big, tough 12th grade seniors who ran the high school. I realized then that it's nice to strive for something, but that you also have to enjoy the moment you're in and be happy where you are. Rock and roll had always been an important part of my life. I remember my friends and I used to drive around until the late hours of the nights listening to the music of Rock and Roll legends. During those teenage years, I built friendships that I thought would last a lifetime. Most people that age think the same thing, but people drift apart. Jobs, families and tragedies separate people from those lasting friendships.

我刚开始上高中时，受到很大冲击。我花了八年时间，努力争取成为天主教学校学生群体中最受欢迎的孩子。那时我还是个强壮、坚强的八年级学生，却突然成了一个孤独的九年级学生，受到那些掌控着高中的强壮、强悍的十二年级学长们的欺负。那时我意识到，为某件事努力奋斗固然很好，但你也必须享受当下，满足于自己所处的位置。摇滚乐一直是我生活中重要的一部分。我记得，我和朋友们过去常常开车在外面兜风，直到深夜，同时聆听摇滚乐传奇人物的音乐。在那些青少年时期，我结交了一些我以为会维持一生的友谊。那个年纪的大多数人都有同样的想法，但人们会渐行渐远。工作、家庭和悲剧会使人们与那些长久的友谊分离。

The tragedy that separated me from my friends forever was the Vietnam War. A year after I graduated from high school, I left for Vietnam. I came back, burned out, and tired, as though I had lived 10 lifetimes in the short span of 14 months, the 14 months I was in the war. I couldn't relate to the friends I had had in high school. They still seemed childish, concerned with childish things that weren't important to me. I was still trying to cope with the death, destruction and evil I had seen in Vietnam. I felt like we had done terrible things to innocent people there and in turn, I had seen terrible things done to my friends.

使我与朋友们永远分离的悲剧是越南战争。高中毕业一年后，我去了越南。战争持续的14个月里，我仿佛在短短14个月内经历了十辈子的人生；回来时，我身心俱疲，筋疲力尽。我无法再与高中时的朋友们产生共鸣。他们看起来仍然很幼稚，关心着一些对我来说并不重要的幼稚事情。我仍在努力应对自己在越南见到的死亡、毁灭和邪恶。我觉得我们在那里对无辜的人做了可怕的事情，而反过来，我也亲眼看到了我的朋友们遭受可怕的伤害。

I withdrew from my friends and started college. Then I quit college and took many different jobs. I spent a lot of my time and money on alcohol and other drugs. Finally, in an effort to get my life going in the right direction again, I sold everything and took what little money I had and bought myself an airplane ticket to Israel. I went there to study history. While studying at Haifa University, I met my wife, who was also an American student.

我与朋友们疏远了，开始上大学。后来我辍学了，做过许多不同的工作。我把大量时间和金钱花在酒精和其他毒品上。最后，为了让自己的生活重新走上正轨，我卖掉了所有东西，拿着仅有的一点钱给自己买了一张去以色列的机票。我去那里学习历史。在海法大学学习期间，我遇到了我的妻子，她也是一名美国学生。

I now teach in a high school back in America. I look at my students and see them struggling with many of the very things I struggled with many years ago. As a teacher, I try to help them over the rough spots as best I can.
